

AABHL S/ECR Stream Workshop

Sunday September 23, 2018 | 9am-12pm | Townsville

This half-day workshop for Students and Early Career Researchers will run immediately prior to the commencement of the AABHL 2018 Conference. It will highlight the interdisciplinary nature of bioethics and health law scholarship and mirror the conference themes of 'collapsing borders, contested certainties & changing paradigms'.

Program

A Keynote Address by Professor Ian Kerridge will be followed by a Panel Discussion featuring leading academics, and then the opportunity to participate in small discussion groups with these generous mentors. Academics/Mentors will share with Students and Early Career Researchers their experience of navigating the interdisciplinary landscape of bioethics and health law. Discussions may include career and research challenges and their possible management strategies, the evolving edges of bioethics and/or health law, fellowships, mentorships, and career pathways. A friendly morning tea will also feature!

Register

Registration for the S/ECR Workshop is fully subsidized by AABHL. Register for this workshop through the AABHL Conference website <http://aabhlconference.com/>
NB. You do not need to be a conference delegate to attend the S/ECR Workshop

Enquiries

Any questions about this workshop can be directed to the S/ECR Stream Leaders: Jonnie Kennedy jonnie.kennedy@sydney.edu.au or Cynthia Forlini cynthia.forlini@sydney.edu.au